

Dr. Mohamed Rafik Laib

Faculty Of Law and Political Science
Souk ahras University

The International Community

A Pedagogical Book on The International Community Course Intended for first-year law
undergraduate students

Table of Contents

Introduction .....	5
Chapter One: The Concept and Evolution of the International Community.....	9
Section One: The Concept of the International Community. ....	10
Subsection One: Definition of the International Community....	11
Subsection Two: Doctrinal Definitions of the International Community.....	13
Subsection Three: Characteristics of the International Community.....	15
1- Absence of a Supreme Central Authority .....	15
2- Sovereignty and Legal Equality of States .....	16
3- Multiplicity of Actor: .....	16
4- Cultural, Political, and Economic Diversity .....	16
5- Dependence on Consent and Agreement .....	16
6- Legal and Institutional Characte:.....	17
7- Ethical and Normative Dimension .....	17
Section Two: The Evolution of the International Community. .....	18
Subsection One: The Ancient International Community (3100 B.C. – 476 A.D.). .....	18

First- The Emergence of International Relations in Ancient Civilizations (3100 – 1200 B.C.).....	19
1- Ancient Egypt and Mesopotamia.....	19
2- Early Legal Practices .....	20
Second- Development of International Relations in the Classical Ages (1200 B.C. – 500 A.D.).....	21
1- Major Empires .....	21
2- Ancient Greece .....	22
3- Roman Empire.....	22
Third- Distinctive Characteristics of the Ancient International Community (3100 B.C. – 476 A.D.).....	23
1- Reliance on Power and Absolute Sovereignty .....	23
2- Absence of Modern International Law.....	24
3- Security and Cooperation Based on Alliances.....	24
4- Cultural and Religious Dimension .....	24
Subsection Two: The International Community in the Middle Ages (476–1453 AD).....	25
First- European Society in the middle Ages.....	25
1- Fragmentation of Authority and Local Sovereignty.....	25
2- The Role of the Catholic Church .....	26
3- Feudal Alliances and Collective Security .....	27

4- Absence of International Law and the Supremacy of Customs.....	28
Second- Islamic Society in the Middle Ages.....	29
1- Political and Religious Unity.....	29
2- Relations with Other States.....	30
3- Islamic Law and International Customs .....	31
4- Cultural and Scientific Dimension .....	32
Third- General Analysis of the Middle Ages (476–1453 AD).....	33
1- General Analysis of Medieval European Society.....	33
2- General Analysis of Medieval Islamic Society .....	34
3- Interaction Between European and Islamic Worlds..	34
Subsection Three: The European International Community in the Modern Era (1492–1914).....	35
First- The Emergence of the Modern Nation-State.....	35
Second- The Principle of Sovereignty and Its Consolidation (Peace of Westphalia, 1648) .....	36
Third- Expansion of International Relations and European Colonialism .....	37
Fourth- Development of Modern International Law .....	38
Fifth- Balance of Power and International Alliances.....	39

Subsection Four: The Contemporary International Community (1914–Present).....	41
First- Collapse of the Traditional International System (1914–1919).....	41
Secnd- Emergence of International Organization: The League of Nations (1919).....	43
Third- Creation of the United Nations and the Contemporary International Community (1945–Present).....	44
Fourth- Evolution of International Actors .....	45
Fifth- Emergence of Human Rights and International Criminal Law .....	46
Sixth- Restriction of Sovereignty and Emergence of Jus Cogens.....	48
Seventh- Contemporary Challenges of the International Community.....	48
Chapter Two: Subjects of the International Community. ....	51
Section One: The State as the Primary Subject of the International Community.....	52
Subsection One: The Concept of the State.....	53
1- Traditional Definition of the State .....	53
2- Modern Legal Definition.....	54
3- Institutional Definition.....	54

Subsection Two: Elements for the Establishment of a State.	55
First – Population (Population)	55
1- The Importance of Nationality in Defining the Population	55
2- Conditions for the Existence of Population	56
3- Legal and Political Dimension of the Population	56
Second – Territory (Territory)	57
1- Concept of Territory	57
2- Types of Territory	59
3- Methods of Acquiring Territory	61
Third – Political Authority (Government)	62
1- Concept of Political Authority	62
2- Functions of Political Authority	63
3- Characteristics of Political Authority	63
4- Conditions for Effective Political Authority	64
Fourth – International Recognition	64
-1 Concept of International Recognition	65
2- Legal Nature	65
-3 Types of Recognition	66
4- Importance of International Recognition	66
Subsection Three: Legal Characteristics of the State.	67

First – Sovereignty .....	67
-1 Concept of Sovereignty.....	67
-2 Characteristics of Sovereignty.....	68
Second – International Legal Personality of the State...	70
1- Concept of International Legal Personality .....	70
2- Foundations of the State's International Legal Personality.....	71
3- Extended Analysis of International Legal Personality... ..	72
4- Relationship Between Sovereignty and International Legal Personality.....	73
Subsection Four: Types of States. ....	75
First- Fully Sovereign States .....	75
Second- States with Limited Sovereignty .....	76
Subsection Five: Rights and Duties of States in International Law. ....	78
First- Rights of States in International Law .....	79
1- The Right to Sovereignty and Independence .....	79
2- The Right to Legal Equality Among States.....	80
3- The Right to Legitimate Self-Defense .....	80
4- The Right to Conclude Treaties and Join International Organizations.....	81

5- The Right to Territorial Integrity .....	81
Second- Duties of States in International Law.....	82
1- Duty to Respect the Sovereignty of Other States and Non-Intervention.....	82
2- Duty to Refrain from the Use or Threat of Force...	83
3- Duty to Respect and Protect Human Rights .....	83
4- Duty to Fulfill International Obligations in Good Faith (Pacta Sunt Servanda) .....	84
5- Duty to Settle International Disputes Peacefully ....	84
Section Two: International Organizations.....	85
Subsection One: Concept of an International Organization. ...	86
1- The Treaty-Based Nature.....	87
2- Possession of International Legal Personality.....	87
3- Existence of Permanent Organs.....	87
4- Pursuit of Common Goals and Interests .....	88
Subsection Two: Characteristics of International Organizations. ....	88
1- Treaty-Based Nature .....	88
2- Permanence and Continuity .....	89
3- International Legal Personality .....	90
4- Limited Competence (Principle of Specialization)..	90
Subsection Three: Types of International Organizations.....	91

1- Global International Organizations.....	91
2- Regional International Organizations .....	92
3- Specialized International Organizations .....	93
Subsection Four: The Importance of International Organizations in the International Community.....	94
1- Organizing International Cooperation among States.....	94
2- Contributing to the Maintenance of International Peace and Security.....	95
3- Developing International Law.....	95
4- Reducing International Conflicts through Peaceful Means.....	96
5- Promoting Global Humanitarian Values .....	96
Subsection Five: Organs of International Organizations...97
1- General Concept of the Organs of International Organizations.....	97
2- Types of Organs of International Organizations .....	98
Subsection Six: The United Nations as a Model of International Organizations.....	100
1- The Establishment and Objectives of the United Nations.....	101
2- The Legal Nature of the United Nations .....	101
3- The Organs of the United Nations.....	102

4- The Role of the United Nations in the International Community.....	106
Chapter Three: New Actors in the International Community. .....	109
Section One: Multinational Corporations (MNCs).....	110
Subsection One: Definition of Multinational Corporations.	111
Subsection Two: Characteristics of Multinational Corporations.....	112
1- International presence.....	112
2- Administrative independence.....	112
3- Economic scale .....	112
4- Diverse activities.....	112
5- Legal complexity.....	113
Subsection Three: Role of Multinational Corporations in the International Community.....	113
1- Economic Role.....	113
2- Political Role.....	114
3- Social and Environmental Role.....	115
Subsection Four: Legal and Regulatory Challenges of Multinational Corporations.....	116
1- Compliance with national and international laws	116
2- International legal responsibility.....	116

3- Impact on national sovereignty.....	116
Section Two: Liberation Movements. ....	118
Subsection One: Definition of Liberation Movements....	118
Subsection Two: Characteristics of Liberation Movements. .....	119
1- National Character.....	120
2- Collective Nature.....	120
3- Variety of Means .....	120
4- International Legal Dimension .....	120
Subsection Three: Role of Liberation Movements in the International Community.....	121
1- Political Level.....	121
2- Legal Level .....	122
3- Social and Economic Level.....	123
Subsection Four: International Legal Recognition of Liberation Movements. ....	124
1- Political Recognition .....	124
2- Partial or Limited Legal Recognition (De facto) ...	124
Subsection Five: Challenges Facing Liberation Movements. .....	126
1- Military occupation or political repression .....	126
2- Lack of financial and technical resources.....	126

3- Fluctuating international support .....	126
4- Transitioning from a movement to a state administration .....	127
Section Three: The Individual in the International Community. ....	128
Subsection One: The Concept of the Individual in International Law. ....	129
Subsection Two: Individual Rights in International Law. ....	130
1- Human Rights. ....	130
2- Protection During Armed Conflicts. ....	131
Subsection Three: Individual Responsibilities in International Law. ....	132
1- International Criminal Responsibility.....	133
2- Compliance with International Humanitarian Law.....	133
Subsection Four: The Impact of the Individual on the Development of International Law.....	134
1- Human Rights .....	135
2- International Criminal Law.....	135
3- Role in International Organizations and Civil Society.....	135
Conclusion .....	139

Bibliography ..... 143
Table of Contents ..... 147